Lots of Fun at EnergyPath 2016 Conference — July 28-29 — Penn State/State College, PA.

Danilo Gusmão de Quadros has provided highlights, along with audio from interviews with presenters and participants.

After Quadros' oft-repeated criticism about biofuels education and the big gap between research and the job market, he was pleased to experience one of the best examples of how to bring these interests closer together. It was demonstrated by the Sustainable Energy Fund organizing, at Pennsylvania State University (PSU) for one week, a group of activities involving people from different education levels and with different ambitions.

From the 3-day Energycamp, the Renewable Energy and Sustainability Systems Graduate Program (RESS) symposium, to the 2-day Energypath conference and expo the week provided something for everyone giving all the attendees high levels of information in a variety of areas of renewable energy and biofuels-- putting together theory and practice.

In the article, Joanne Ivancic shares stories from the Expo floor, especially from students who participated in the competitions/science fairs such as Michelle Surine (pictured below) who measured energy from watermeal/duckweed, "Green Energy:

Can Wolffia (Watermeal) be Used as a Viable Biomass Fuel second prize for middle school lists of other winners. Held each year at a Pennsylvania Energypath is funded by sponsors settlement approved by the Commission during the deregulation proceedings in 1999.

Quadros and Ivancic both agree that initiatives like Energypath should be repeated nationwide, if not state-by-state, then on a regional basis. Quadros sees this as a way to spread renewables culture and to form a new generation of "soldiers of wellness" in academia, schools and industries looking to making a better world to live in.

Plan to attend EnergyPath 2017 and see for yourself! Details coming soon. READ MORE

Maryland Clean Energy Center Advisory Council Annual Meeting

The MCEC Advisory Council is an important group of stakeholders called upon to help set work plan priorities, carry out the activities, and establish legislative positions for the Maryland Clean Energy Center. Members include representatives from a broad cross section of the energy industry stakeholders including large corporations, small contractors, utilities, banks, and building sector interests as well as association managers and government agencies.

Joanne Ivancic, Advanced Biofuels USA executive director serves on the advisory council.

At their annual meeting on September 7 in Baltimore, Advanced Biofuels USA staffed a table with information about renewable transportation fuels and presented an update on the organization's activities, particularly those involving projects in Maryland, and announced the award to Advanced Biofuels USA of a nearly $17,000 USDA Rural Business Development Grant to conduct a feasibility study of an energy beet-to-jetfuel effort centered at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore.

University of Maryland Eastern Shore Agriculture Field Day

Themed “Addressing Food Security,” the day offers a host of educational, informational, and recreational activities for the family. Agriculture Field Day at UMES is sponsored by USDA, the University of Maryland Extension 1890 Program and the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Advanced Biofuels USA officers Robert Kozak and Joanne Ivancic will staff a booth showcasing the energy beets recently harvested from an experimental plot at UMES, such as the ones being prepared for study by, from left, Beatrice Chebet and Nancy Chepketer, research assistants at UMES.

Farmers, agriculture professionals, home gardeners, agriculture students and community families are invited to enjoy the event by visiting a number of exhibitor booths and educational displays that will be open throughout the day. Concurrent sessions are slated for 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. and will offer participants a choice between several tours and informational sessions highlighting ethnic crop production, energy beets, pasture rotational grazing, and sustainable aquaponics gardening. Informational sessions for the day will cover Extension programming as well as soil health, careers in conservation, and other career opportunities in the food and agriculture sciences. READ MORE

Bio Summit 2016

2nd World Bio Summit & Expo
Dubai, UAE
October 10-12, 2016

OMICS International a pioneer in organizing scientific conferences all around the world is gearing up for 2nd World Bio Summit & Expo which is schedule to be held during October 10-12, 2016 in Dubai, UAE.

Bio Summit-2016 is a specially designed cluster conference with a theme: Recent advances in Bioscience. It is an immense pleasure and privilege to welcome you here with us to honor your hard-earned scientific discoveries, innovations and would like you to share, extend and impart your valuable thoughts to the Global scientific community.

The scope of the conference includes but not limited to:

- Frontiers in Biotechnology
- Biotechnology and its Applications
- Medical Biotechnology
- Biotechnology in Petroleum
- Industrial Biotechnology
- Nano biotechnology
- Agro-Biotechnology
- Biomedical and Translational Medicine Research
- Bioinformatics and Computational Biology
- Biomedical Engineering
- Anti-Microbial therapeutics
- Recent Advances in Biochemistry
- Bio ceo & Investors conclave

16th International DATAGRO Conference on Sugar & Ethanol — October 17–18 — Sao Paulo, Brazil

The 16th International DATAGRO Conference on Sugar & Ethanol, reinforces its commitment of bringing together key leaders and representatives of the entire chain of the international sugar & ethanol industries to discuss market issues and sectorial strategies. The focus will continue be quality content, and dissemination of knowledge and new technologies, stimulating networking between participants.

In 2015, the Conference was attended by more than 650 participants from 33 countries, 49 speakers and more than 70 supporting companies, which together debated in two days how to overcome challenges and seize opportunities in the International market. READ MORE

7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit — October 19-20, 2016 — Lyons, France

ACI's 7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit 2016 will explore the ongoing developments of turning waste CO2 into profitable, commercially viable opportunities. With insights from key industry players from pilot stage to full scale entities, the conference will address both the technical and commercial aspects of CO2 utilisation in Europe and across the globe. This edition aims to highlight the changes post COP21 addressing challenges & opportunities in framework across CO2 emitting industries such as Industrial Manufacturing, Power to Gas/Liquids, Fuel, Petrochemical, Chemical, Urea, Algae and Power/Energy.

The conference is designed to appeal to professionals interested in learning about the commercial future of carbon dioxide utilisation. If you are looking for a comprehensive progress update on the global CO2 Utilisation industry, including growth outlook and updates on the latest technological advancements, then look no further than ACI's 7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit. Algae Biomass Summit — October 23-27, 2016 — Phoenix, AZ

The 10th Annual Algae Biomass Summit will take place October 23-27, 2016 at the Renaissance Glendale Phoenix Hotel & Spa in Phoenix, Arizona. ABO expects more than 600 attendees from countries around the world to come to the event to learn the newest breakthroughs in algae technology, network with industry leaders, and see Arizona's algae innovation first-hand through regional research and commercial facility tours.

The region has quickly become a hub of algae research and commercial activity. With ABO members Heliae, the US Department of Energy-funded Algae Testbed Public-Private Partnership (ATP³), the Arizona Center for Algae Technology and Innovation (AzCATI), as well as programs at Arizona State University, Phoenix is home to major efforts to commercialize algae-based products in a variety of end markets. Symposium on Thermal and Catalytic Sciences for Biofuels and Biobased Products — November 1-4, 2016 — Chapel Hill, NC

The 2016 symposium will spotlight recent technical advances in thermochemical biomass conversion to biofuels, bioproducts, and biopower and provide a showcase for energy experts to introduce themselves and their research to the audience to look for unique collaboration opportunities.

This symposium has been held every other year following the first symposium held in 2010 at Iowa State University with the goal of focusing on thermochemical biomass research and development and providing early career scientists and engineers an opportunity to present their research and interact with the senior researchers in the community. A tradition at these meetings has been the student poster competition recognizing outstanding poster contributions by undergraduate and graduate students.

A renewed enthusiasm for thermochemical biomass conversion emerged in the early 2000s with increased federal budgets, renewable fuel standards, pre-commercial demonstration of technologies, and the advent of advanced (hydrocarbon) biofuels. Prominent researchers in the field wanted to build on the success of earlier meetings and convene another symposium series focused more on opportunities for the next generation of thermochemical biomass researchers.

International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics — November 10-11, 2016
— Alicante, Spain

With the successful journey of Biopolymers & Bioplastics conferences in USA, Conference Series LLC conferences planned to continue its Biopolymers conference series in Europe from 2016.

International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics, will be organized around the theme "Bioplastics: A Genuine Alternative" Bioplastics 2016 is comprised of 12 tracks and 62 sessions designed to offer comprehensive sessions that address current issues in Bioplastics 2016.

Conference Series LLC Conferences invites all the participants from all over the world to attend 'International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics ' during November 10-11, 2016 in Alicante, Spain which includes prompt keynote presentations, Oral talks, Poster presentations and Exhibitions.

Bioplastics Conference 2016 is an event delivering the concept of biobased world across the globe. In the present world where the use of conventional plastics, the consequences of plastic products use and the waste management of these products when they become waste, is a current and pressing issue. Concerns focus on the potential impact of conventional plastics they cause to the environment. READ MORE Mention Advanced Biofuels USA and use code BIOPLAS252016 for a 25% registration discount

6th International Symposium on Energy from Biomass and Waste — November 14-17, 2016 — Venice, Italy

The aim of the Venice 2016 Symposium is to focus on the advances made in the application of technologies for energy recovery from biomass and waste and to encourage discussion in these fields. The previous edition of the Symposium, held in 2014, was attended by over 500 scientists and operators from approximately 54 different countries.

The sixth edition of the Symposium will feature:

- Three days of scientific presentations
- One day of guided technical tours at biochemical and thermochemical plants
- Six parallel oral sessions, poster sessions and an exhibition by companies working in the field
- Expected attendance of over 600 delegates from tens of different countries worldwide
