Biorenewable Deployment Consortium's Candid Discussions of Current Bioeconomy Happenings

An intimate group that shares some background or interest in forest resources meets twice each year under the Biorenewable Deployment Consortium banner for candid discussions of developments in advanced biochemicals, bioproducts, biomaterials and biofuels, with an emphasis on forest resources.

The no-nonsense attitude is set by Ben Thorpe, one of the group's founders and leaders, along with Masood Akhtar and Harry Seamans. Meetings encourage social interaction and developing business relationships with an intent to educate industry leaders from around the world on leading edge technologies, processes and policies in order to accelerate their deployment. Meetings usually include a visit to a working biorefinery or related facility.

Advanced Biofuels USA executive director, Joanne Ivancic, provided a review of topics covered at this action-oriented gathering. READ MORE

Ag Field Days Are Always about Learning—History Discovered at University of Maryland Eastern Shore

The purpose of Ag Field Days, education, goes both ways. Those doing demonstrations and exhibits often learn just as much from those attending the events.

That proved true again at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore/University of Maryland Extension 1890 Program/US Department of Agriculture Ag Field Day September 24. Themed "Addressing Food Security," the day offered a host of educational, informational, and recreational activities for the whole family.

Advanced Biofuels USA was there to talk about how food and fuel production can go hand-in-hand, highlighting a new local initiative studying energy beets as a feedstock for jetfuel, with potential for a high protein poultry feed as a co-product, along with possible soil and nutrient management benefits. And displaying the 2002 Ford Focus retrofitted to use E85. (More on the retrofit here)

Not many people on the Atlantic Coast have ever seen sugar beets from which energy beets are derived.

Children enjoyed posing for pictures with the strange root.

Lance Folke had seen them before--and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. His father and uncle grew them in the 1970's in response to the oil embargo for use as fuel. Thanks to Folke for sharing his family stories about what we thought was an entirely new crop for the region.

A fun day. READ MORE

We'll Be at the 16th International DATAGRO Conference on Sugar & Ethanol — October 17 – 18 in Sao Paulo, Brazil

Look for Dr. Lais F. Thomaz at the 16th International DATAGRO Conference on Sugar & Ethanol this October in Sao Paulo, Brazil. She will share her observations and insights with Advanced Biofuels USA readers. Watch for an article on our website.

Contributing author Thomaz, has a Ph.D. in International Relations, Unesp/Unicamp/PUC-SP, São Paulo, Brazil and is a researcher at National Institute of Science and Technology for Studies on the United States (INCT-INEU).

Career and Internship Expo for the Sciences at Hood College Thursday, October 20

Looking for volunteers and interns who are interested in communicating what's happening in the world of science to the rest of the world, Advanced Biofuels USA will be at the Hood College campus in Frederick, Maryland to connect with students and to share information our mission and about careers in the bioeconomy. We value our years-long partnership with Hood College that has brought many students to work with us. Experiential learning for them and greatly appreciated work for the organization.

VOLUNTEER

You don't have to attend Hood College to volunteer with us. For those who can work independently and who live in the Washington, DC area, exciting opportunities to cover briefings, hearings and other events abound. And for those in other parts of the world, we can usually tailor projects that meet the volunteers' personal goals and the needs of the organization. For more information, contact Joanne Ivancic at 301-644-1395 or info @ advancedbiofuelsusa.org.

Visit us at Booth H-308 at the Keystone Farm Show — January 10-12, 2017 — York, PA

They call this the Farm Show for Farmers. Full-time farmers from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and Northern Virginia stop by to visit. If you are interested in seeing the latest in farm machinery and services for active farms and forests such as industrial sized wood-splitters, information about seeds, fertilizers, precision farming, tools, Extension services and agriculture-related organizations, spend a winter's day at the Keystone Farm Show. And stop by our booth, H-308.

7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit — October 19-20, 2016 — Lyons, France

ACI's 7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit 2016 will explore the ongoing developments of turning waste CO₂ into profitable, commercially viable opportunities. With insights from key industry players from pilot stage to full scale entities, the conference will address both the technical and commercial aspects of CO₂ utilisation in Europe and across the globe. This edition aims to highlight the changes post COP21 addressing challenges & opportunities in framework across CO₂ emitting industries such as Industrial Manufacturing, Power to Gas/Liquids, Fuel, Petrochemical, Chemical, Urea, Algae and Power/Energy.

The conference is designed to appeal to professionals interested in learning about the commercial future of carbon dioxide utilisation. If you are looking for a comprehensive progress update on the global CO₂ Utilisation industry, including growth outlook and updates on the latest technological advancements, then look no further than ACI's 7th Carbon Dioxide Utilisation Summit. Algae Biomass Summit — October 23-27, 2016 — Phoenix, AZ

The 10th Annual Algae Biomass Summit will take place October 23-27, 2016 at the Renaissance Glendale Phoenix Hotel & Spa in Phoenix, Arizona. ABO expects more than 600 attendees from countries around the world to come to the event to learn the newest breakthroughs in algae technology, network with industry leaders, and see Arizona's algae innovation first-hand through regional research and commercial facility tours.

The region has quickly become a hub of algae research and commercial activity. With ABO members Heliae, the US Department of Energy-funded Algae Testbed Public-Private Partnership (ATP³), the Arizona Center for Algae Technology and Innovation (AzCATI), as well as programs at Arizona State University, Phoenix is home to major efforts to commercialize algae-based products in a variety of end markets.

Symposium on Thermal and Catalytic Sciences for Biofuels and Biobased Products — November 1-4, 2016 — Chapel Hill, NC

The 2016 symposium will spotlight recent technical advances in thermochemical biomass conversion to biofuels, bioproducts, and biopower and provide a showcase for energy experts to introduce themselves and their research to the audience to look for unique collaboration opportunities.

This symposium has been held every other year following the first symposium held in 2010 at Iowa State University with the goal of focusing on thermochemical biomass research and development and providing early career scientists and engineers an opportunity to present their research and interact with the senior researchers in the community. A tradition at these meetings has been the student poster competition recognizing outstanding poster contributions by undergraduate and graduate students.

A renewed enthusiasm for thermochemical biomass conversion emerged in the early 2000s with increased federal budgets, renewable fuel standards, pre-commercial demonstration of technologies, and the advent of advanced (hydrocarbon) biofuels. Prominent researchers in the field wanted to build on the success of earlier meetings and convene another symposium series focused more on opportunities for the next generation of thermochemical biomass researchers.

International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics — November 10-11, 2016
— Alicante, Spain

With the successful journey of Biopolymers & Bioplastics conferences in USA, Conference Series LLC conferences planned to continue its Biopolymers conference series in Europe from 2016.

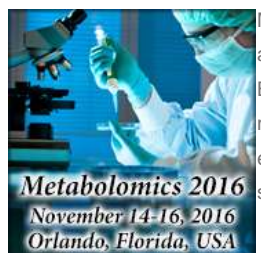

International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics, will be organized around the theme "Bioplastics: A Genuine Alternative" Bioplastics 2016 is comprised of 12 tracks and 62 sessions designed to offer comprehensive sessions that address current issues in Bioplastics 2016.

Conference Series LLC Conferences invites all the participants from all over the world to attend 'International Conference on Sustainable Bioplastics ' during November 10-11, 2016 in Alicante, Spain which includes prompt keynote presentations, Oral talks, Poster presentations and Exhibitions.

Bioplastics Conference 2016 is an event delivering the concept of biobased world across the globe. In the present world where the use of conventional plastics, the consequences of plastic products use and the waste management of these products when they become waste, is a current and pressing issue. Concerns focus on the potential impact of conventional plastics they cause to the environment. Metabolomics 2016 will be a global platform to share knowledge and expertise with the eminent personalities and for session talks, B2B meetings, poster presentations, workshops, symposia and much more. It will provide a platform wherein you will have enormous exposure and networking by exhibiting products and service. READ MORE

6th International Symposium on Energy from Biomass and Waste — November 14-17, 2016 — Venice, Italy

The aim of the Venice 2016 Symposium is to focus on the advances made in the application of technologies for energy recovery from biomass and waste and to encourage discussion in these fields. The previous edition of the Symposium, held in 2014, was attended by over 500 scientists and operators from approximately 54 different countries.

The sixth edition of the Symposium will feature:

- Three days of scientific presentations
- One day of guided technical tours at biochemical and thermochemical plants
- Six parallel oral sessions, poster sessions and an exhibition by companies working in the field
- Expected attendance of over 600 delegates from tens of different countries worldwide

The Austrian Biomass Association, the Styrian Chamber of Agriculture and Bioenergy 2020+ GmbH organized in cooperation with Messe Graz from 18 to 20 January 2017 in Graz . 5 Central European Biomass Conference.

The agreement at the UN Climate Change Conference 2015 in Paris provides the go-ahead for the global energy revolution. Investments that flowed so far in the fossil energy supplies are increasingly being diverted to renewable energy, under which bioenergy in Europe is the most important. The opportunities for Central Europe, to benefit from the investments in infrastructure and plant engineering as well as the positive effects of bioenergy use are excellent. READ MORE

Lignofuels 2017 — February 1-2, 2017 — Helsinki, Finland

Advanced Biofuels & Materials — Following the success of the last year's conference in Munich, Germany with Clariant's Sunliquid plant visit, and the previous one to that in Madrid with the Abengoa's demonstration plant site visit. We are delighted to announce that next Lignofuels 2017 Conference will be taking place at the heart of the wood bioenergy industry – Finland.

The main conference will be held in Helsinki, on the 1st and 2nd of February 2017. A day prior the main conference, 31st of January 2017, a limited number of conference attendees will have the unique opportunity to join an exclusive site visit to the UPM Lappeenranta Biorefinery – The world's first commercial scale wood-based biorefinery in Lappeenranta, Finland.

Already on its 9th edition, this two day conference will bring together key industry stakeholders. We would like to invite you to join our forum discussions and take advantage of excellent networking opportunities, meeting leaders from advanced generation biofuels companies from across the globe. International Symposium on Green Chemistry — May 16-19, 2017 — La Rochelle, France

The main objective of ISGC-2017 is to gather the most eminent scientists involved in the field of green chemistry to debate on the future challenges of Chemistry keeping in mind the problems of access to a sustainable energy, the management of resources (carbon, water, metals, minerals), Human development, global warming, impact on the environment and competitiveness of our Industry. To contribute to solve this complex equation, ISGC-2017 has been thought as a cross-disciplinary platform and should offer to public and private scientists an ideal platform for sharing fundamental knowledge with industrial research and development stakeholders.

On the continuation of the previous editions, ISGC-2017 will gather more than 800 attendees from all around who will exchange on the most recent advances in the field of green chemistry through plenary lectures, keynotes, oral and flash communications and posters organized around multi-parallel sessions with 6 principal topics and industrial sessions.

New in 2017 : to facilitate access to cutting edge research and enable industrials to present their know-how, technologies and innovations, ISGC has created the "Green Chemistry Challenge" and offers an exhibition area, industrial sessions and 1-to-1 meetings for all the participants, with ability to send or receive meeting requests and view companies & academic laboratories profiles.
