Advanced Biofuels USA Has Faith that US Leadership in Advanced Biofuels Development Will Continue Regardless of Trump Administration Policy toward Paris Agreement

For Immediate Release: Frederick, MD June 2, 2017 Advanced Biofuels USA has faith that the world will continue to develop technologies and products to address climate change, improve air quality, and develop truly sustainable, renewable fuels for transportation, cooking, heat and power with or without the US government's formal participation in the Paris Agreement. Advances took place without US participation in the Kyoto Accords. The world's efforts to make this a better world obviously do not depend on US government policy. Lack of leadership in this area from the US government does not mean lack of leadership from the American people, organizations or companies.

In particular, US leadership in advanced biofuels development will continue regardless of Trump Administration policy toward the Paris Agreement.
