Delegation of “Emerging Leaders” from Ukraine Discusses Renewable Fuels with Advanced Biofuels USA

by Joanne Ivancic (Advanced Biofuels USA) Invited by the U.S. Ukraine Foundation as part of its Open World Leadership program, Advanced Biofuels USA’s executive director, Joanne Ivancic, met with a delegation of “emerging leaders” from Ukraine to discuss biofuels, feedstock, logistics, conversion technologies and the role renewable fuels can have in addressing environmental problems from climate change and pollution control to energy security.

The Open World Leadership Center, an entity within the U.S. legislative branch with offices at the Library of Congress, funds programs designed to enhance understanding and capabilities for cooperation between the people of the United States and the countries of Eastern Europe, Eurasia and the Baltic States, by developing a network of leaders in the region who have gained significant, first-hand exposure to America’s democratic government, free-market system, and nongovernmental sector. This presentation was part of a week-long program of events and meetings for a group of five from Ukraine. READ MORE

Society of Environmental Journalists Program at Wilson Center Illustrated Problem with Climate Change Journalism

by Joanne Ivancic* (Advanced Biofuels USA) Billed as the “2019 Journalists’ Guide to Energy & Environment,” the Society of Environmental Journalists held their annual presentation on Energy and Environmental Journalism January 25 at the Wilson Center in Washington, DC. The event featured an interview of U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Assistant Administrator for Air William Wehrum by The Guardian’s Emily Holden, followed by a journalists’ panel discussion. The event demonstrated what’s wrong, dissatisfying and incomplete about coverage of climate change causes, effects and policies. READ MORE

Biofuels Basics: 6 Essential Points to Know about Biofuels

by Joanne Ivancic* (Advanced Biofuels USA) Asked recently to summarize the most important points about biofuels, here’s my top 6 list:

1. Biofuels have a vital role to play in getting us off fossil fuel in the immediate past, present and short- and medium-term future. Benefits are not just smaller carbon footprint, but improved air quality, improved performance/mileage/less maintenance, energy/national security, economic development– rural and urban — and military flexibility.

2. Wind, solar and geothermal will not displace petroleum or liquid fuels for transportation, so we need bio- and renewable fuels. READ MORE

Future Activities: Come See Us!

We will be covering the occasional events related to biofuels. Look for us!

Visit with Lais Thomaz at the Argus South America Motor Fuels Conference April 4-5, 2019 in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Biofuels Digest's Advanced Bioeconomy Leadership Conference in April is a "don't miss" event in Washington, DC. Watch for a number of Advanced Biofuels USA board members in attendance at this connected series of 6 conferences on the most important issues in the bioeconomy right now from sustainable aviation biofuel to conversion technologies and financing.

Chris Tindal will be moderating a panel as part of the Aviation Biofuels Summit and Joanne Ivancic will moderate supply chain case studies as part of the Advanced Nutrition and Feedstocks sessions. READ MORE

Celebrate Earth Day with Advanced Biofuels USA at University of Maryland College Park

Joanne Ivancic and others will be staffing a booth at UMD College Park as part of Engineering Sustainability Day – “Towards Zero Emissions and Beyond” April 22 to bring a biofuels perspective to the event, highlighting low carbon intensity examples.

Join us for a day of energizing discussion as we explore the future role of negative emissions approaches and examine innovative technologies to achieve ZERO emissions and BEYOND. READ MORE

Joining Royal Farms Celebrating Sustainability April 23, 2019 at National Harbor, MD

Advanced Biofuels USA will bring a 2002 Ford Focus that's been retrofitted to use E85 to the Royal Farms station at National Harbor, MD, to help celebrate the impact in Virginia and Maryland of the USDA Biofuel Infrastructure Project Grant (USDA BIP Grant). Totalling nearly $9.1 million, investments will support ethanol refueling infrastructure like this one, supplied by Protec Fuel. This Earth Week event will show that clean personal transportation is something available today to regular folks with regular vehicles.

The Virginia-Maryland collaboration was the only multi-state proposal selected for award. The $5.8 million in federal funds was matched by $3.3 million from private sector partners. By increasing the number of stations offering higher octane ethanol blends, this collaborative effort resulted in greater access to fueling infrastructure across the region.

Come join us--and fill your flex fuel vehicle with E85. READ MORE

The 2002 Retrofitted Ford Focus at Green Neighbor Festival in Frederick, MD May 4

Capping off a week of sustainability activities at Hood College, the County and City of Frederick join at Baker Park for an educational and fun event with children's activities, vendors, blue gill release, community organizations and alternative vehicles, including Advanced Biofuels USA's display of the 2002 Ford Focus retrofitted to use E85. Bob Kozak will be on hand to explain the retrofit; with Joanne Ivancic there to provide information about the role of renewable fuels in mitigating climate change.
